

China: Health Statistics

| Name   | Indicator                         | Year |
|--|-----------------------------------|------|
| Population <sup>1</sup>  | 1,315,844,000                     | 2004 |
| Life expectancy at birth (male) <sup>1</sup>   | 70.0 years                        | 2004 |
| Life expectancy at birth (female) <sup>1</sup>   | 74.0 years                        | 2004 |
| Population with sustainable access to improved sanitation <sup>1</sup>                 | 50.92%                            | 2004 |
| Maternal mortality rate <sup>3</sup>   | 56 (per 100,000 live births)      | 2005 |
| Infant mortality rate <sup>3</sup>   | 36.6 (per 1,000 live births)      | 2005 |
| Prevalence of HIV, total <sup>4</sup>  | 0.1% (of ages 15 - 49)            | 2005 |
| Prevalence of Tuberculosis, total <sup>4</sup>   | 208 (per 100,000 pop.)            | 2005 |
| Contraceptive prevalence rate <sup>1</sup>   | 84% (of married women aged 15-49) | 1997 |
| Doctors <sup>1</sup>   | 15.1 (per 10,000 people)          | 2005 |
| Nurses <sup>1</sup>  | 10.5 (per 10,000 people)          | 2005 |
| Estimated incidence of malignant neoplasms of the female breast, adjusted <sup>2</sup> | 9.3 (per 100,000 people)          | 2004 |
| Estimated incidence of malignant neoplasms of the cervix uteri, adjusted <sup>2</sup>  | 10.9 (per 100,000 people)         | 2004 |
| Public health expenditure (% of GNP) <sup>4</sup>                                      | 2.0%                              | 2005 |

Sources: 1 - World Health Organization; 2 - China Ministry of Health, Information Center; 3 – Country Profiles for Population and Reproductive Health, Policy Developments and Indicators 2005; 4 – Human Development Reports, 2007-2008 report, UNDP.